IN CHURCH.

Some Very Common Occurrences Which the Writer Likes to See.

[Jesseamine Journal.]
I like to see boys whisper during service; it sets one to wondering who their parents are.

I like to see young people giggle and laugh in church; it shows they are funny and mischievous—so are monkeys.

I like to see people come to church after the services have begun; it shows they have learned the proverb, "Better late than never."

I like to see the congregation turn around and look at those coming in late; it shows they are interested in their personal appearance.

I like to see people sit bolt upright during prayer; it reminds one of that "stiff-necked people" of old, who were more upright than plowmen.

I like to see people write their names in the hymn books; it shows that they know how to write, which is more than you could expect of such people.

I like to see a crowded audience, with all the windows closed up tight; it shows that the janitor is determined not to waste the sweetness of that service on the desert air.

I like to see people ransacking the four corners of their purses in search of a copper to throw into the missionary collection; it shows that they practice economy as well as benevolence.

I like to see people absorbed in far-off contemplation, and fail to observe the collection basket as it passes; it shows that they are thinking of the poor heathen who don't take up collections.

I like to see people let their dogs follow them into the church and then look as if they did not know who in the world they belonged to; it shows that these people are not dogmatic in their views.

I like to see people go to sleep in church. A church with sound sleepers is likely to be an immovable church. But if it does not blow over, it ought to be "blown up"—by its preacher.

I like to see men put on their overcoats and rubber shoes while singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow"; it shows that they appreciate what blessings shoes and coats are.

I like to see people look as though they were at a funeral when the minister announces that a subscription paper will be passed; it shows how hard it is to part with their most dearly beloved friends—five-cent pieces.

I like to see a person accept the usher's offer to show him a seat; and then drop into the first seat he comes to, and let the usher glide up the aisle like an engine whose train has come uncoupled; it shows that person realizes that a "friend in need is a friend indeed."

I like to see a person sit down in the end of the seat and compel all others to crowd past him; it shows that he has stability. A turtle on a log will move over and let his brother turtle up beside him. I do not like to see that, for it shows that the turtle has never been to church.

I like to see a preacher close his sermon with the seventeenthly at the farthest; it shows that he knows that the most popular thing to preach about is—about a half an hour.

Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years; tried all kinds of remedies, but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat what ever I like." Kodol digests what you eat and will cure you. Sold by J. H. Williams.

Socialists Now Rise to Dignity of a Party.
[Chicago Chronicle.]
Chicago's socialistic boom will cost its taxpayers $50,000 next spring. This amount is the estimated cost of a primary election which the Socialists will be compelled to hold if they expect to maintain their party organization, and no one apparently entertains any doubt on this score.

Under the primary election law as it applies to Cook county, a political party or organization which polls 10 per cent of the total vote of the entire vote cast in a county, city, village, incorporated town or district is compelled to hold a primary election.

According to unofficial election returns the Socialists have 10 per cent of the apparent total vote cast both in the city and in the county, and they also polled more than 2 per cent of the total vote cast in the State. In short, Socialists in Illinois, Cook county and Chicago have reached the party stage, and in Cook county must bow to the primary election law.

Too Easy to Touch.
"I understand that you went to Higgins to borrow money?"
"Yes," answered the amiable but impetuous man.

"What's the trouble? Have I ever refused you anything?"
"No."

"Then why didn't you come to me?"
"Well, the truth is, 'you're so easy that there's no sport in it.'"

Agnes of Former Presidents.
The oldest man who was ever elected President was William Henry Harrison, of Ohio. Although a great soldier and the son of a signer of the Declaration, he called himself a farmer. When he was a boy of sixteen, a student at Hampden-Sidney College, in Virginia, Washington was made first President of his country. It was not until fifty-two years after that memorable event that Harrison was able to reach a like official eminence.

Next in the order of seniority was James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania. He was sixty-six before he succeeded in landing the coveted prize. He lived to see the successful end of the war which he bequeathed to his successor, Abraham Lincoln.

Zachary Taylor was sixty-five when he became the tenant of the White House. The elder Adams reached the Presidency at the age of sixty-two, as likewise did Andrew Jackson. Besides the younger Adams, two other men were fifty-eight when they were elected—James Madison and James Monroe.

Two men were President at the age of fifty-seven. Both were of English ancestry. One of them was the first Executive of the United States and the other was Andrew Johnson. Johnson had not even learned to read when he was married, and his wife taught him both to read and write. He had acquired the tailor's trade.

An Awful Mistake.
Wife—"My dressmaker is getting all together too old-fashioned to suit me."

Husband—"Why, my dear, your new gown is strictly up-to-date."

Wife—"Yes, I know; but she actually sent it home the day she promised it."

Catching a Ninety-Year-Old Lover.
MARION, IND., November 30.—Mrs. Kate Christian, 37 years of age, wife of Elisha Christian, has eloped with Archie Price, 90 years of age, thinks her husband, who has asked the police to locate and arrest her and Price. The police located the couple in Tipton, arrested them and will bring them to Marion.

The husband said that he had learned that his wife and Price had been having clandestine meetings, but was unable to find them together. He learned that they were using a hole in a hollow tree to exchange letters, and set a steel trap to catch Price, but this morning found a note from his wife in the trap. Christian says that she stated in the note that she was not caught in the trap, but had left with Price and would never return.

Prize Won by Insane Woman.
ST. PAUL, Nov. 30.—A woman inmate of one of the State insane hospitals has won a prize offered by a Boston magazine for the solving of a riddle and a short essay on an assigned topic. The prize was a trip abroad worth $250. The Board of Control does not deem it safe to allow her to go abroad, but will endeavor to secure the money for her. The woman's name is not made public.

A Frightened Horse.
Running like mad down the street, dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every-day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles disappear quickly under its soothing effects. 50c. at J. H. Williams' drug store.

Eskimo Tastes.
There is certainly no accounting for tastes, and surely the strangest is that of the Eskimo. Tallow is their candy. It is put up in bright red packages made out of the feet of waterfowl. The women cut off the red feet of this bird, which is called the dovkie, draw out the bones, blow up the skin, so as to make pouches, which they fill with the reindeer tallow for their little folk.

None of the food that the Eskimos eat seems very inviting to us, but they are extremely fond of it and are very apt to over-eat. It is said by explorers who have gone into Greenland that it is no uncommon sight to see an Eskimo man who has eaten an enormous meal of the raw, frozen flesh of the reindeer, seal or walrus, lying on his back and eating blubber until he cannot move.

Queer.
Mr. Henpeck—I'm sorry you said "yes" when I proposed to you first.
Mr. Henpeck—Indeed?

Mr. Henpeck—Yes, because now whenever I propose anything to you, you say "No."

A Tailor's Blunder.
[Kansas City Journal.]
At one time in his career Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky, was rather a dandy. While so afflicted he ordered a pair of trousers from his tailor and he expressly stipulated that they should be skin tight. The trousers came home and the Senator tried them on. He went right to the tailor and opened fire on him.

"What in the name of everything unprintable do you mean by sending me trousers like that?" he shouted.

"Why, you said to make them skin tight," said the tailor.

"Skin tight?" yelled the Senator, "Yes, by this and that. I said skin tight. I wanted them merely skin tight. I can sit down in my skin, but I can't in these."

THE RICH POOR BOY.

What Constitutes the Sum and Substance of True Wealth in Life.

[Herald County Messenger.]
Three handsome boys, about nineteen, well dressed, well kept, and decent looking, passed our office this morning.

They are sons of well-to-do parents—boys who have a little pocket money whether they work or not. If the style of clothes should completely change in the next thirty days, each of these boys would have a complete new outfit. He would go to the store and order it, and they would be "sent in." They are not bad boys; they would think nothing, however, of spending two dollars at a bowling alley, and borrowing the money from some other boy to pay for it.

An old gentleman, who sat in our office and saw the boys pass, said: "Poor devils—they have no show. Luck is against them." And what he said is true. Life is a struggle; success is a battle, which goes to the strong. Strength is not inherited; blood tells, but it only tells for men and women who have character enough to work, to grow strong, to dig their toes in the ground and grapple with life. These boys, in the days when they should be gaining moral and spiritual strength, are idling. When they get into the thick of the battle their muscles will be flabby. Wealth will help them little. Their education, however good, unless education helps them to be strong, will avail them nothing. All that will count when the test comes will be such moral fibre as there is in their souls. Failure will bump them. Unless they can stand up and set their jaws and fight, they are goners. The boy who has to work hard with his hands to get his education, to get his "start," is training his moral muscle for the fight. He is ready when the shock of combat comes. He is full armored for the fight, he knows what it is to stint himself, to do without the luxuries, he is more afraid of a crooked dollar than he is of a shabby coat. He can go without a shave a week if he hasn't the dime to pay for it. Dirty hands do not keep him awake at night, but a dirty conscience would. Such boys have a mortgage on life. They are not the poor boys. The "poor boys" are the boys who have an easy time of it. If they succeed, it is a sign that they have not been loafing; it is a sign that somehow they have been gaining strength. If your boy is loafing, having a good time, for heaven's sake stop him, put some dirty clothes on him that he has earned himself, and let him have the new clothes only when he has paid for them. Too many boys these days are going to the bad because their mothers insist on sending them. They are the poor rich boys. Pity them.

Obliging Lad.
He had been calling four years. At last it seemed as if the inevitable moment had arrived.

As he stood in the vestibule, pale and nervous, he was confronted by his little brother. The lad had an ice pick.

"What is that for?" gasped the young man.

"For you," responded the boy. "Sister said at supper she thought you would break the ice to-night, and I don't want you to cut your fingers."

From somewhere in the distance a cuckoo clock called the fatal hour and all was still.

And Substitute Dark Corners.
"What can we do to improve the present method of dancing?" thundered the person. "Dancing is merely hugging set to music!"

"We might cut out the music," softly suggested a bad young man in the rear of the auditorium.

No More Suffering.
If you are troubled with indigestion, get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thomson, of Spencer, Ia., says: "Have had Dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or Dyspepsia should use it." Sold by J. H. Williams, m

A Mean Editor.
[Aurifer, (Kan.) Reflector.]
Some people will do nothing unless they have Bible authority for it. Men will not wipe dishes, because they claim it is woman's work. Let them turn to their Bible—to Kings; xxi, 13: "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." Women, cut this out, and show it to the men when they refuse to wipe the dishes.

America vs. Germany.
BERLIN, Nov. 30.—"Compared to the people of the United States, we Germans are a set of drunkards," said Prof. Dr. Lackner last night at a lecture which he gave in Dresden. Prof. Lackner has just returned from America, where he has studied the temperance question. He said that Germany could learn from the United States, and suggested that text books teaching the children the evils resulting from the use of alcohol used in the United States be literally translated and introduced into the schools of Germany. He said that though the population of the United States was almost twice as large as that of Germany, the consumption of alcohol was only about half. The number of total abstainers in America was surprising, but on the other hand he had found that those who do drink are far more liable to drink to excess than the Germans.

Exposure to a sudden climatic change produces cold in the head and catarrh is apt to follow. Provided with Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh. Price 50 cents at Druggists or Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York, will mail it. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses and cures. Cream Balm quickly cures the cold.

Death of a Babe.
SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Nov. 30, 1904. The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Ingram on November 17, and claimed their son, Roy Leonard. He was buried the following day at Oak Ridge Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. B. W. Little. Little Roy was only three months and eight days old.

Dear ones, grieve not; we can be separated here on earth, but not in heaven. B. C.

Fight Will Be Bitter.
Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. B. Hall, of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once and four bottles entirely cured her. Guaranteed by J. H. Williams, Druggist. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free."

Ma Calls Pa Down.
"John," said the wife, in a firm tone. "What is it, my dear?" responded the husband.

"You have been supporting Mr. Sniffkins for Congress for the past two months, haven't you?"

"Yes, my love."

"And he was elected, wasn't he?"

"He was, my dear."

"Well," asked the wife with a steady glitter in her eye, "don't you think you can whirl in now and help support this family?"

He Took It Back.
In a certain town in Western Massachusetts two of the most prominent citizens are a Methodist brother and a Presbyterian brother. These are neighbors, and for the most part, dwell on good terms, except when they try to effect an exchange of horses or to talk religion.

On one occasion the two had traded horses, and although the outcome ranked in the breast of the Methodist, they had met and started a discussion on the subject of predestination. As usual, an altercation ensued, when the Methodist lost control of himself. With mixed emotions concerning horse trades and John Calvin in his mind, he suddenly exclaimed:

"You're a robber, a liar and a Presbyterian!"

This proved too much for the Presbyterian, and a fight began, in which the Presbyterian got the best of it. As he sat upon his prostrate opponent, bumping his head against the ground, he said:

"Take it back, take it back, or I'll bump your foolish head off!"

"I'll take it back," gasped the vanquished Methodist, "on the first two counts: you're not a robber nor a liar, but I die for it!"

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.
Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling how to get it. Send all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
